English – Diary Entries: Diary Style

Look at the diary writing overview that is attached and discuss what each point means. Focus on the diary style. Do you know what this means? Can you think of any books that you have read that are written like a diary? Try and name some famous diaries you may have heard of. Briefly look at the diary entry extracts on the attached document. What are the similarities and differences between how each writer starts their diary entry? Is there one that you preferred? Write a diary entry about your day yesterday, starting your diary in a similar fashion.

English – Diary Entries: Writing in First Person

Look at the diary writing overview to remind yourself of the key features of a diary entry. Focus on writing in first person. Do you know what this means? It means using pronouns such as I and we. You are writing as if the person the story is about is telling it. Look at the Diary of a Wimpy Kid extracts in the diary entry extracts. Can you spot those pronouns? Write a couple of paragraphs in first person talking about something you like and something you dislike.
