Coronavirus—How long to stay at home

If you have COVID-19, you should stay at home while you're infectious to others. This can be for up to 10 days from when your symptoms start. Many people will no longer be infectious to others after 5 days. You can do a rapid lateral flow test from 5 days after your symptoms started (or the day you had the test if you do not have symptoms) and another the next day. If both tests are negative and you do not have a high temperature, you're less likely to pass COVID-19 to others and you can go back to your normal routine. If your test result is positive on day 5, you can carry on doing rapid lateral flow tests every day until you get 2 negative test results in a row.

NYCC Road Closure

NYCC are undertaking patching and kerbing on Woodhead Field Lane, Gillamoor from the 30 March to 1 April during the day and 4 to 7 April overnight

Free School Meals

Following a NYCC review there are a a number of eligible children are not taking up the offer of a free school meal. Free school meals could save families up to £450 a year per child; a much needed financial boost due to the cost of living increasing. If you meet the criteria for free school meals, you will find an application form on the NYCC website: <https://www.northyorks.gov.uk/free-school-meals>. Applications are usually processed within five working days. You will be notified in writing by NYCC, either by post or email, if your child is entitled and they will also let school know.
